Yearbook 1989

Cathedral High School

Boston, Massachusetts

Dedication

There are many persons who have nurtured us,

guided us and protected us

throughout our lives.

First, there are our PARENTS

who brought us into this world

full of hope and promise and life;

Who held our hands and our hearts

as we tested and tried the waters of life.

In addition, there have been others

our GRANDPARENTS, GODPARENTS, and GUARDIANS,

our AUNTS, UNCLES, and FOSTER PARENTS,

our TEACHERS, COUNSELORS and FRIENDS

Who have shared in the myriad ways of guiding, protecting, sheltering and healing.

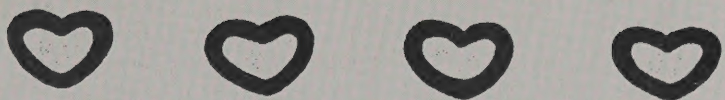
And so, to all who have parented us over the years,

we dedicate this yearbook

with great love and deep gratitude.



A Graduation Thank-You

When I needed some direction,
You were always there to help me,
Your thoughtful wisdom
was a constant guide...
When I needed understanding,
I could count on you to listen
And it meant so much
to have you on my side.
I will always be so thankful
For your patience and support,
For the love that shows
in everything you do...
You have given me the kind of home
That's built on special caring...
That's why when I think of love,
I think of you.

"WHEN I THINK
OF LOVE,
I THINK OF YOU"

The future is yours in all its mystery and promise.

Know that it will offer you trials as well as treasures, tears as well as triumphs. Walk down life's winding pathways with courage and humor and hope, savoring fully your achievements and learning from your defeats.

Speak kindly of others...and think kindly of yourself. Be forgiving, no less of your own mistakes than of theirs. Learn to laugh...learn to listen. Aspire not to an unreachable perfection, nor merely to gain approval in the eyes of your friends.

Strive instead to live to the best of your ability by those personal standards of honor and excellence which only you can set. Cherish, above all, your individuality. Glory in those special qualities of mind and spirit that make you uniquely you.

Realize always that you are capable of reaching difficult goals and exceeding them, of dreaming wonderful dreams and making them come true, of achieving the only kind of success that really matters: that of being at peace with yourself and with the world around you.

Now your moment has come...
that world awaits...
the future is yours.

During the 1988-89 school year, the National Honor Society has encouraged our incoming population of students to work hard to achieve a high academic status while they volunteer to help others. The National Honor Society has helped its members to consider their schoolwork and their values in a way that allows them to learn to work with many students and teachers. Ms. Lane, our leader who also graduated from Cathedral High School, has worked very hard to keep the spirit of education and participation alive within the National Honor Society. Overall, the NHS has and will continue to make its members feel confident about themselves as it did the members of the Class of 1989!

This year, peer leaders have visited many high schools and grammar schools talking to and with students about the importance of AIDS prevention, violence prevention, drug and alcohol abuse prevention. Throughout this year, they have appeared on numerous television spots, highlighting the work that they have done in the Boston area.

In June, they received an award from the Governors Office of Human Services for all the work that they have done in educating other youth about AIDS and AIDS prevention.

John W. Wilcox and Terence Stanton give the facts about violence prevention to the students of Cathedral Grammar School.

FORUM

The Thomas Jefferson Forum is a community service club whose goal is to get students active in the community. This year over 30 students participated which was the most in any other Boston high school. We had people working at Castle Square Day Care, Saint Helena's House, and the South End Boys Club.

In early September, we were awarded a Congressional Record by Senator John Kerry. Also, in mid-January, we had a WBZ "Time to Care" assembly featuring Bob Lobel. Many of our members were selected to appear on television and in press conferences. The Class of 1989 would like to thank Mr. Ray Dewar and Mr. Al McNeill, our coordinators, for a wonderful year!

The International Club has once again strived to make this year better for everyone. The club started off with a successful International Foods Day before Thanksgiving. Then the club surprised us once more with a Holiday Party before Christmas break; but the fun didn't stop there! African drummers and dancers from St. Francis de Sales Elementary School came to perform before the entire school. On May 7, the club participated in the annual Walk For Hunger.

Student Government

Student government has been very active this year. In September, an ice cream day for the freshmen was organized to welcome the freshmen to the school community. School supplies for children were collected and sent to villages in Nicaragua.

In December, each class was invited to adopt a deprived child in Africa through the Christian Children's Fund. In addition, student government organized the school Christmas party.

January saw a new box installed in the cafeteria in which students were invited to make suggestions and comments to increase the scope and activities of the student government.

With the election of the freshmen representatives in February, the student government began planning for the 1989-1990 school year.

CHS Sports 88/89
Memories:

The class of 1989 can boast one of the most successful years, athletically, the school has ever had. This was a year in which we were competitive in every sport played and dominant on the football field and basketball court. While much of the year would read like a highlight film, the following are some of the moments that should be looked back on and remembered most. Some are painful and some are sweet. They all made 88/89 something special:

Terence Stanton rushes around the end, breaking four tackles on his way to a typical twenty yard gain against Boston Tech . . . Stephanie Eaton serves five straight aces, nailing the lid on St. Clement's coffin in the Volleyball semi-final . . . Moses Jean-Pierre reaches low, swats away the ball, and is on his way to an uncontested layup in the state tournament against Dover Sherborn . . . Jashiema Roach looks down to check her feet and fires up the only three point basket the girls' team has ever made . . . Gary Cullinane sets and delivers, never daunted by his team's record . . . Patricia Morrison destroys an NCC fastball for her first grand-slam on route to a Cathedral comeback . . . John Wilcox pulls down rebound after rebound . . . Paul Francisco spikes the ball on the twenty yard line . . . Rosa Arroyo serves to an empty left corner, sealing a victory . . . Phil Yarde blows open another hole . . . Stan Greene never less than full-speed . . . Two made free throws to seal a win . . . two made to seal a loss . . . A Francisco to Stanton to Jean-Pierre fast break off every jump ball . . . a long day in New Hampshire . . . a runaway at the Mackey . . . A bad night in Newton . . . What could have been . . . What always will be . . . Thanks for the memories.

Soccer

Boys' Basketball

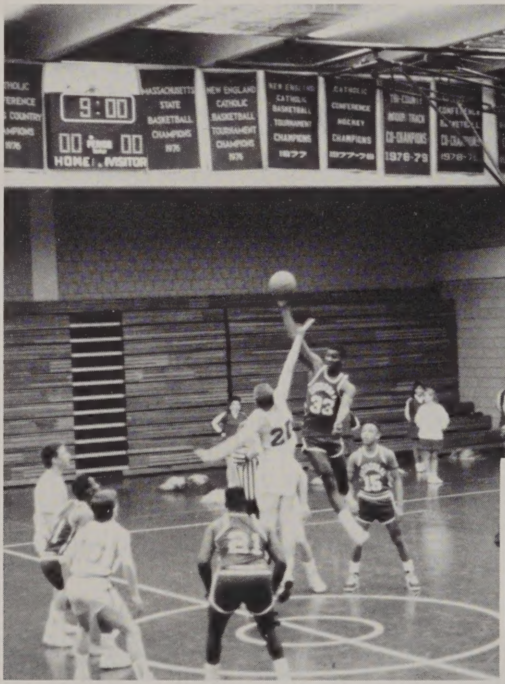
Cathedral's athletic program has taught me how to be a better person. I have accomplished the feeling of being part of a team . . . and working with my teammates, not only to make ourselves feel proud but to keep the pride of Cathedral alive!

Boys' Basketball

22-1 The Catholic Central League Title. Five league all-stars, Terence Stanton, League MVP and Second Team All-Scholastic. While it fell a point short at the end, this was called, and was, the best boys team Cathedral ever produced. To watch this team play was to watch basketball as an art form. There was speed, power, height, an inside game, an outside game, and a defense which could wreak havoc on the opposition's offense like few others.

The game which best speaks for this season was the tournament game against Dover-Sherborn. No one beats a quality team three times in one season; especially a team led by an All-American like Trent Forbes. We did . . . with a mixture of hustle, hard-work, board work and Terence Stanton poise.

Sophomore Larry Merritt set the tone by teaming with Moses Jean-Pierre to shut down Forbes in the first half before leaving the game with a stomach problem that would have kept most people from playing at all. The forwards, Paul Francisco, John Wilcox, and Terence Stanton took it from there in the second half limiting Dover's offense to one shot at a time by ripping down forty rebounds between them and intimidating their inside men. They stayed cool despite a Dover come-back that tied the game with only seconds remaining. They then got the ball to the man who wanted it most. Terence Stanton, and he delivered with foul shots to ice the game with seven seconds to play. Cathedral 72-70. This was a team win and the moment in time this season should be remembered by.

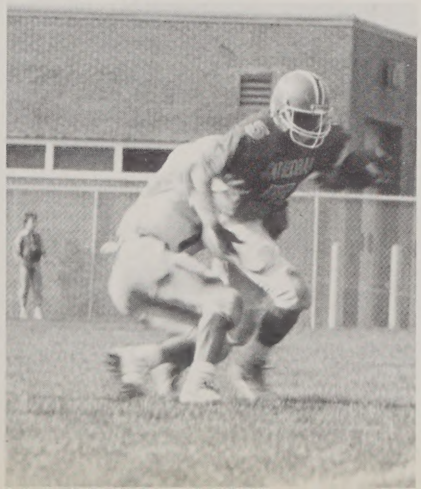


Football

Led by Seniors Terence Stanton, Phil Yarde, Paul Francisco and John Wilcox, the football team this year lived up to its own high expectations with an impressive 9-1 season which was capped by a Catholic Central League Title and an awesome victory over Boston Tech on our return to Thanksgiving football. Half the positions on the league all-star squad belonged to Cathedral's Chiefs. Paul Francisco was selected to the Herald's All-Scholastic Team and B.U.'s 1989 team.

Stanton and Junior Wayman Payne led the offense, vying for the league's lead in both rushing and scoring. Stanton would topple would-be tacklers like candlepins on his way to yardage or loft feathery passes into the hands of his receivers. Payne would seem a blur to those trying to bring him down, leaving them with a handful of air and none of him. A team might stop one, but it never stopped both.

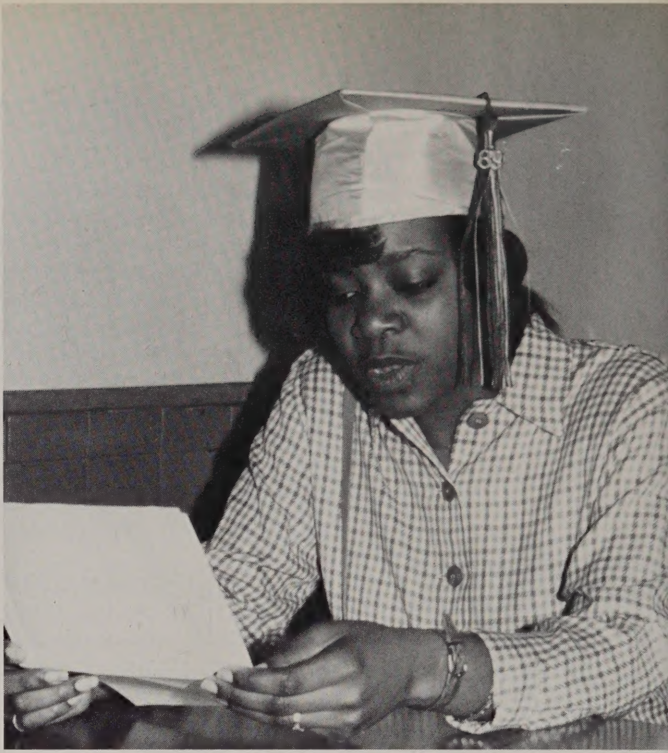
Francisco and Wilcox became the "twin towers" on defense, daring opponents to outrun their long legs or try to throw it over their outstretched arms. Passes were knocked disdainfully to the ground at the same rate that runners were rocked to the ground. There was only one destination for the offense and no place to hide from the defense.



Baseball

No season is a total loss if the last game is won. This was especially true for this year's baseball team. They saved the best for last when they thrashed Marian with a vengeance and demonstrated what the team should be capable of in the future.

This year's team was led by the steady play of seniors Phil Yarde and Gary Cullinane, who showed the pride they have by leading a team with little experience through an extremely difficult schedule. There were flashes of brilliance in the play of league all-star Wayman Payne. There were hints of things to come in the play of Manny Fortes, Joel Johnson and Edwin Hilaire. But, most of all, there was the building up of a competitive program from nothing and the discovery of what it means to work hard as a team toward a goal. It is thanks to the seniors that this goal is now in sight.



Welcome Family, Friends, Faculty, and Esteemed Guests.

. . . There is a story that has been a true inspiration to me during the past four years which I would like to share with you today . . .

It is the story of a farmer who buys a baby eagle but decides to raise this eagle as if it were a chicken . . . The eagle was raised with other chickens and treated as a chicken . . . The farmer was assured that he had been successful in his attempts to rob this regal animal of it's God given grace . . . One day a passerby saw the eagle feeding with the chickens . . . He finds the farmer and says, "What are you doing to this eagle . . . Eagles are not meant to be on the ground among chickens . . . their place is in the sky far above the mountain peaks" . . . The farmer laughed and said, "Not this one . . . He is a chicken and will never be anything more . . . He will never fly!" . . .

The man challenged the farmer saying, "This eagle can and will fly . . . He is not a chicken and does not belong among them" . . . So the man took the eagle to the roof of the barn . . . raised him far above his head and said . . . "Though art an eagle with the power to soar to the heavens . . . go forth and spread your wings." . . . But the eagle looked down to the chickens that were feeding below and just fluttered down to join them. "I told you" . . . The farmer said . . . "Chickens cannot fly" . . .

But the man did not give up . . . The next day he took the eagle to the roof of the barn and again said . . . "Though art an eagle with the power to soar to the heavens . . . go forth and spread your wings" . . . But once again the eagle looked around and fluttered downward to the other chickens . . . The farmer beamed smugly knowing that he had successfully turned a mighty eagle into a chicken . . . But the man could not believe such a thing . . . The next morning at dawn, he took the eagle far away from the farm and climbed the highest peak he could find . . . He turned toward the sun . . . raised the eagle far above his head and said, "thou art an eagle with the power to soar to the heavens, go forth and spread your wings! . . .

The eagle looked around and this time there were no other chickens around him. He spread his wings, faltered a bit and then flew above the mountain peak toward the sun, where he rightfully belonged . . .

As a member of the class of 1989, a class of eagles, I welcome you to this graduation ceremony . . . I invite you to share with us this moment in the belief that we are all as regal and unique as the eagles . . . in the belief that you can reach your dreams and fly as high as your wings can take you . . .

Cathedral has taught us a great deal . . . not only academically . . . but also about interpersonal and personal relationships. Being a small Catholic school, . . . we have had the unique opportunity to grow with one another, . . . work with one another, . . . and accomplish with one another . . . the goals that have been set before us. We could not have accomplished this alone. The essence of Cathedral . . . is its people, . . . for where else can you attend a school . . . that is so culturally diverse . . . and so well integrated. We are many peoples, but we have become one, . . . one as the class of 1989.
